This Question the Senate Considers,

And Mr. Hoar Wants the President to Restrict Nations that Restrict American Sailors.

The President's Reception and the Appo ntees Rejected by the Senate To-day.

THE FISHERIES.

They Come Up in the Senate—House Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.—In the senate Mr. Dawes presented a memorial of the Massachusetts legislature. It recites that the general court of Massachusetts views with deep concern, recent interferences of the government of Canada, with the rights of fishermen of the United States and urges congress to secure immediately relief for that class of citizens.

Mr. Hoar wanted the president empowered to retaliate on nations who restricted American sailors in any port.

The senate has rejected the nominations of John Sholds, of Michigan, to be chief justice of the supreme court of Arizona and Abraham Rose to be postmaster at Vinton, Iowa.

The senate confirmed the following nominations:

David L. Hawkins as assistant secretary of the interior.

M. H. Maynard, receiver of public moneys at Marquette, Mich.

S. Hull, registerer of land office, Shasta, Cal.

W. Faren, register land office at Detroit, Mich.

These postmasters were confirmed:

E. Wadsworth, Laporte. Ind.

J. B. Leony, Hancock, Michigan.

W. M. Green, West Bay City, Mich.

Joseph C. Hendrix, Brooklyn, New York.

W. G. Morrison, Frankfort, Ind.

J. W. Lauer, Evansville, Ind.

W. P. Hale, Peru, Ind.

W. H. Evans, Princeton, Ind.

The doors reopened and the senate passed Logan's invalid appropriation bill and the military academy appropriation bill.

The United States senate, Tuesday. passed the bill forfeiting the unearned lands of the Northern Pacific Railroad company.

HOUSE.

Morrison, from the committee on ways and means, reported back adversely the resolution offered by Grosvenor, declaring in favor of the restoration of wool tariff of 1847, and a resolution offered by Wilkins, expressing the sense of congress as adverse to any change in the present wool tariff. Laid upon the table.

The house then went into a committee of the whole on the legislative appropriation bill.

The first official reception of president and Mrs. Cleveland was held at the White House Tuesday evening, being one of the largest ever held at th executive mansion. The diplomatic corps, congressmen with their wives, officers of the army and navy, and many distinguished persons residing in Washington were present to pay their respects to the president and his bride.

A BIG FIRE.

DEATH OF HARRY CLAYTON

A Former Citizen Dies at Chattanooga, Tenn., of Consumption.

Mr. Harry Clayton, a former Fort Wayne citizen, died at Chattanooga, Tenn., last evening at 4 o'clock. Mr. Clayton has been subject to pulmonary troubles, and consumption at last claimed him. He was formerly a member of the firm of Moderwell & Clayton, and for a time followed his profession as a photographer. He was an enterprising honorable young man, but ill health compelled him to relinquish his labors. He has been a resident of Chattanooga for two years and his remains are now en route here for burial. They will arrive on the 1:20 train, via the Richmond road, to-night and the date of the funeral will be settled later. The body will be cared for at the home of his father-in-law, Mr. C. L. Hill, at No. 34 Superior street. Mr. Clayton leaves a wife and one child.

THE NICKEL PLATE.

The Road Involved in the Greatest Suit on Record—The Points at Issue.

There is some talk of the Lackawana company taking the Nickel Plate road out of its financial mess to make an entrance to Chicago. It is reported that in case the Lackawanna and Lake Shore can arrange the terms for the transfer of the controlling interest the Lackawanna will retire the Nickel Plate 6 per cent. bonds, issuing therefor a 4 per cent. bond guaranteed by the Lackawanna company. The excellent financial standing of the Lackawana, it is asserted, would enable it to float such a bond at about par. The Vanderbilt-Nickel Plate suit, booked for a hearing at New York yesterday, was again postponed. If the Nickel Plate contest goes on to a square issue it will go into legal and railroad history as one of the most important pieces of litigation this country has ever seen. The amount involved is somewhere between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000. But this is the least interesting feature of the contest. The novelty of the attack, and the points of law chiefly attract attention. Two particular points are raised. One is that the Nickel Plate, as a whole, has no legal existence, and the courts are asked to resolve it to its original component parts, as organized in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. Another point is based on section 3313 of the revised statutes of Ohio, which says: "All capital stock, bonds, notes and other securities of a company, purchased of the company by a director thereof, either directly or indirectly for less than the par value shall be null and void." Now; the Vanderbilt attorneys claim that by depositions already taken, they can show that the original directors of the Nickel Plate company received at least $45,000,000 of the stock of the company for a cash consideration of not over $9,000,000.

LOW RATES.

The Passenger Agents Give the Tri-State Fair Cheap Rates.

There was an important meeting of prominent railroad men at the Young Mens Christian association's reading rooms yesterday. The corporations were represented as follows:

Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago—F. Vanduzen and C. L. Kimball.

Lake Shore—W. S. Johnson, W. H. Canniff and E. S. Philley.

Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific—Mr. Cram, and J. M. McConnell.

New York, Chicago & St. Louis—B. F. Horner and F. H. Barnard.

Fort Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville—R. F. Kinnaird.

Grand Rapids & Indiana—C. L. Lockwood.

The passenger men discussed the tri-state fair project and agreed to give the people cheap rates on every railroad entering Fort Wayne during the progress of the great exhibition here. The visitors made friends here and are kindly disposed toward Fort Wayne. They will announce the schedule of rates in a few days.

Professor E. E. Smith, who has filled the chair of English literature in Purdue University for the past year, was decapitated by the board of trustees, all of whom were present except Civil Service Commissioner Edgerton It is said President Smart and Professor Smith had not dwelt together in unity, and this is probably the cause of Smith's retirement. The chair has not been filled.

THE FAIR.

The Voting Contests and Personal Notes.

The St. Mary's fair continues the leading attraction in the city. Everybody goes to Library hall.

Prof. Reineke's orchestra will furnish music to-night.

A contest for a standard cyclomoter to the most popular wheelman will open on the board to-night and will close Friday night. Bring in your names and let the contest be spirited.

The management of the fair acknowledge most thankfully valuable gifts from the Misses May Graffe and Annie Mommer.

The contest between the most popular wholesale merchants for a costly sideboard opens to-night and closes Saturday night. This will undoubtedly be a leading feature of the fair and all should avail themselves of the fun by being present.

The Library hall is well ventilated, besides the cold lemonade from the Rebecca well and the ice cream will add to the comfort of all visitors.

The contest for the beautiful cherry secretary, to be given to the most popular young lady, closes to-night. The contestants are: Miss Ida Bulger, Miss Mollie Nierman, Miss Katie Kalbacher and Miss Mary Baltes; all have a large circle of friends and acquaintances and the contest will be exciting. Don't fail to be there and see the fun. Eleven o'clock closes the contest.

The contest between the butchers for a live steer closes to-morrow night and the race promises to be very exciting. The following knights of the cleaver have entered the race: Wm. Wilkins, Chas. Weller, Albert Gessler, Louis Yobst, and Chas. Haiber. All being very prominent young men, their followers will present a bold front for victory.

DAUGHTERS OF REBEKAH.

The newly elected officers will be installed on July 6, when a grand banquet will be spread.

Hon. A. P. Edgerton returns to Washington, D. C., this evening.

FATIGUE IN INFANTS.

The sensation of fatigue constitutes, from the practical point of view, one of the most important aspects of the hygiene of infancy. Whatever may be the source of the fatigue, sleepiness is the result; or, if the fatigue is great, crying followed by sleep. A chief characteristic of infancy is the rapidity with which the nervous system becomes exhausted, the central portions as well as the peripheral—not only the eye and the ear of the young child suffer fatigue, but also the cerebral centers; and the more tender the age, the more striking are the manifestations. This exhaustion of the nervous centers is the source of an exceedingly disagreeable sensation, and every effort should be made to prevent it as far as possible, and to repair it with quiet and refreshing sleep when it cannot be prevented. Being awake for a long time is sufficient to produce fatigue without any other cause, and it is one of the most frequent reasons for the baby's crying. Any painful impression is quickly followed by fatigue.

Agreeable sensations as well as disagreeable ones are fatiguing when they are long continued, and so is muscular exertion. The act of sucking sometimes occasions cries and tears when the breast does not contain enough milk; and the continual working of the respiratory muscles, to which the baby at first is quite unaccustomed, is doubtless a considerable source of fatigue. The constant transition which the child makes from one object to another may be explained by the fact that any sensation fatigues it very rapidly, and that its attention wanders without its will to a fresh object. All these sources of fatigue are sufficient to account for the almost continual sleep of the infant during the first period of its life.—Babyhood.

IT BLEW!

East Tawas, Mich. Tossed About.

A Terrible Cyclone Strikes it, Wrecking Buildings and all Obstacles in its Track.

Emma Molloy Free From Indictment Again—The Iron Output this Year.

A BAD STORM.

East Tawas, Mich., in a Dreadful Cyclone.

EAST TAWAS, Mich., June 16.—A terrific wind storm accompanied by a heavy rain, passed over here last night. It broke the United States signal staff and leveled Richard Bros., large block of stores, in course of erection. Trees were blown down and a large quantity of lumber was blown into the bay. The residence of James Shaw was moved bodily off the sills, and carried nearly five feet.

MRS. EMMA MOLLOY.

The Indictment Against Her Quashed for Technical Error.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 16.—In the circuit court a motion was made by Mrs. Molloy's attorneys to quash the indictments recently found against her on the ground of a technical error in the same. The motion was granted by Judge Geiger. Mrs. Molloy will be held under bond to appear at the October session of the grand jury.

The application for a continuance in Cora Lee's case has not been decided.

IRON OUT PUT.

The Business Much Better Than Last Year.

PITTSBURG, June 16.—The iron out this year, compared with that of the corresponding period of 1885, shows a good condition. Two hundred and three tons more of iron are being made than during last June. In the steel mills 700 tons of metal are used daily. In iron mills the puddlers are on double turn. In the remainder, half of the puddling furnaces are on double and single turn.

A MILLIONAIRE

Must Serve His Prison Sentence Out.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 16.—The pardon board destroyed Milton Weston's hopes of release from the penitentiary last night, by refusing his application for pardon. The decision is final and the Chicago millionaire must now serve out his sentence.

The Bridegroom Lives.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Thompson, the young Kansas City bridegroom who killed his wife at the Sturtevant house yesterday and shot himself, was resting quietly under the influence of morphine after an undisturbed night.

A ONE-SIDED CAMPAIGN.

"Yes," said a defeated candidate for the Dakota legislature just after the election, "I would have been elected if my opponent had done the fair thing. He beat me by stooping to measures that I would not employ."

"How was that?" asked a friend.

"Why, he didn't say that I had to leave the States on account of some irregularity in connection with an insurance matter. He failed to make the usual charge that I had always borne a bad reputation and was once tarred and feathered. He didn't even claim that I was 'dishonest and an unsafe man to trust with the weighty affairs connected with our government.' I made all these charges and he was of course elected. It was a mean, cowardly advantage to take of me and one unknown in territorial politics. I think when the people fully understand the trick they will feel as I do about it."—Estelline Bell.

At Marion, Ind., Monday, Samuel Maxwell shot at his wife, but missed her and painfully wounded his stepmother.

JUDGE HOLMAN.

He is Renominated for Congress this Afternoon.

Special to THE SENTINEL.

GREENSBURG, Ind., June 16.—For congress, Judge Holman received 121 votes to Cravens fifty. CHAS. A. MUNSON.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 16.—W. S. Holman was renominated for congress today.

[Mr. Holman has served in congress now for more than twenty years, and his people will still love him, notwithstanding the opposition of disappointed office-seekers. The paragraph below was written to appear without knowledge of the vote of the convention.—ED. SENTINEL.]

It is now stated that in Hon. W. S. Holman's congressional district, where it requires sixty-eight votes to nominate, Mr. Holman's democratic people have already instructed almost a round one hundred delegates to vote for him. At their recent county convention the democrats of Dearborn county formarlly presented the name of Mr. Holman for U. S. senator, and instructed the legislative representation from that county to vote for the "watch dog of the treasury" for that high and honorable position. Mr. Holman is an uncle of Hons. A. H. and Montgomery Hamilton, of this city. Mr. Holman is now at his home in this state.

Nevertheless the judge fined the sheriff $50 and costs. Herriman is now in jail.

Adams County Liable For the Costs in the Richards Case.

It is recalled that Adams county refused to pay $8,000 costs in the Richards' case. Hon. R. C. Bell, the gifted county attorney, promptly appealed from the decision of the Adams county court and the supreme court yesterday reversed the case, sustaining and doing honor to Mr. Bell and holding Adams county liable as follows:

The state ex rel. board of commissioners of Allen county vs. Lewis C. Miller, auditor. Adams C. C. Reversed. Niblack, J.—So much of section 414 as was applicable to criminal case was superseded by sections 1778 and 1779, and an allowance regularly made to attorneys, either for prosecuting or defending in a criminal case, by a circuit or criminal court on a change of venue, come within the provisions of the latter sections and the county from which the change was taken is liable.

LEO HARTMAN says in the New York Star: "Nihilism in Russia, though comparatively quiet now in manifesting itself, is by no means dormant nor idle. No one need be astonished at any time at an outbreak more tremendous, far-reaching and dangerous to Russian absolutism than any in the past. The blood of our martyrs will yet be avenged, perhaps much sooner than the world suspects; but of my reasons for this I have now no right to enter into any explanation."

CIVIL-SERVICE REFORM.

Civil-service reform comes hard, because the evils against which it is aimed have been long intrenched in the body politic and can only be removed by heroic treatment. Because an abuse is of long standing, however, is no reason why it should be tolerated, and the assertion of such a principle is without rhyme or reason. Diseases which afflict the human body are not looked upon as blessings because long endured, nor should those which afflict the state be considered so. Everything which is inconsistent with the most perfect working of the body and government must be gotten rid of. Such, at least, is the belief of Mr. W. D. Murphy, of No. 310 Yandes street, Indianapolis, who has recently been cured of rheumatism of twenty-five years' standing by that great remedy, Athlophoros. Age gave the disease no charm in his eyes, and he swept it away at the first opportunity. He himself tells all about the matter in this way:

"My rheumatism dates way back about twenty-five years. I first contracted it in the war, in which I served four years and six months. After returning home from service the disease seemed to assume a periodical form. I would have at least two severe attacks every year, but even between these attacks I would suffer all the time. These attacks prevented me from getting about, and many times I could not walk or get out of bed. They would catch me in the legs so that after standing awhile I would feel suddenly weak and in danger of falling."

"Was it during one of these attacks that you used Athlophoros?" Mr. Murphy was asked.

"Yes; that's the time and that's when it did its work for me. I saw it advertised and sent to B. Brehm, the druggist on Columbia avenue, for a bottle. It was in the afternoon I took the first dose and then at night I took another. I slept soundly that night. The next morning when I awoke I had no pain. I took a few doses more, only using about two-thirds of a bottle altogether and my rheumatism was all gone. That is over a year ago and I have only felt a little twinge of the pain since, but nothing to speak of."

"Do you know of any others who have used Athlophoros?"

"Yes. I have recommended it to many different persons. My confidence was so great in the medicine that in several instances I have bought bottles of it and given them to people, saying at the time that if it did not do its work they need not pay for it; but there is not a single case in which I did not have my money within a week. There is Mrs. Wright, an aged lady of seventy, living a few miles from here, who, after suffering from rheumatic pains for fifteen years, was entirely rid of all pain by three or four bottles of Athlophoros. I recommended another lady, who was supposed to be suffering from dyspepsia, but who in reality had neuralgia of the stomach, to try Athlophoros, and it soon cured her. My neighbor, who had a severe attack of neuralgia, his face being swollen out of all shape, was cured by a few doses. My confidence in Athlophoros is very strong, and I believe that if any one suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia will take it right it will cure ninety-nine cases out of a hundred. It is worth $100 a bottle to every sufferer from rheumatism."

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us, as directed.

THE CANDLE-FISH.

People do not get candles from water, as a rule, I believe, but nevertheless there was a time when men were indebted to the ocean for much of the light that made their homes pleasant at night. The best candles and oil of your forefathers' time came from whales. There is, however, a very remarkable light-giver, which is nothing more nor less than a small fish. This fish is so very oily that all you have to do, after it has departed this life, is to fasten it by its tail between two pieces of wood, touch a match to its head, and a pale flame will arise from the fish's mouth that lasts until, like a candle, the fish is slowly consumed.

The useful fish, moreover, is a very important one to people living on the northwestern coast of North America. At certain seasons the candle-fishes swarm the bays and rivers in vast numbers, and every native man, woman, and child is engaged in capturing them. And how do you suppose they catch them? They actually comb them in. The boats drive them in shore, where each native, armed with a gigantic weapon with teeth eight inches long, sweeps or combs them up by the hundred.

When the boats are loaded full, the fish are carried ashore, where women and children take charge of them. After being dried and smoked, they are ready for candles. They are also used as food, and in that case the oil is tried out and put away for winter use.—"Jack-in-the-Pulpit," in St. Nicholas.

A KENTUCKY CHARACTER.

Anecdotes of an Old Brigadier Congressman.

One of the characters in the house is Gen. Wolford, of Kentucky. When he is at home he wears an old flannel shirt and pants strapped about his waist. When he came here he found he had to change his costume and put on a "biled" shirt and black clothes. At first he was averse to this, but some friends bought him a black suit. He has worn it ever since, and this is his second term. But he would not dare go home dressed as he is now, for his constituents would think he had become effeminate. Several good stories are told of his first campaign, when he took the stump against Gen. Fry. His speech on the Fitz John Porter case revives them. When he was first nominated by the Democrats for Congress Gen. Fry asked him to unite with him and make several speeches together. Wolford accepted the invitation. The first meeting was enough for Gen. Fry. Gen. Wolford commanded the 1st Kentucky cavalry in the Union army, and the regiment was known as the "critter backs." He had several of his men on the platform with him when he made his speech. He opened most brilliantly, but suddenly startled Gen. Fry by asking the assemblage if they knew what the Union had done with Gen. Lee after he surrendered at Appomattox. "Why, gentlemen,—will you believe it?—when he was out walking under an apple-tree near the very house where he surrendered, they grabbed him. Yes, the men who had granted him a parole seized him, and, sir, they not only did that, but they hung Gen. Lee to the very apple-tree under which he was walking! Hung him dead!" Gen. Fry at first was so surprised he could not speak, but jumping to his feet, he said. "Gen. Wolford, you know that is not so. Gen. Lee was never hung."

"But, sir," exclaimed Gen. Wolford, "I was there, and I know it is so. Wasn't it John?" and he turned to one of his "critterbacks." The man nodded his head, as did the others who sat near him. Gen. Fry sank back in his chair overcome.

"This is not all," said Gen. Wolford, turning to the crowd in front of him. "The Union men locked Jeff Davis up in Fortress Monroe, and one beautiful moonlight night when the tide was low, they took him out and tied him to a stake on the beach. The sea came in gradually, the waves swept over him, and he was drowned, and they stood and heard his cries."

This was too much for Gen. Fry. Again he protested and said that Jeff Davis was alive still, but the "critterbacks" indorsed Gen. Wolford, and seeing that his opponent intended to keep the thing up, Gen. Fry withdrew, and Gen. Wolford was elected by a rousing majority.

Another story is told of Gen. Wolford when he was trying a case in his native town in Adair county, Kentucky. His client had been charged with poisoning someone. The chemist for the State had testified to finding arsenic in the stomach of the deceased, and then Gen. Wolford took the witness in hand.

"Do you find any flies' wings in the stomach?" asked the General. "No, sir; for I did not look for any. I found arsenic," answered the chemist.

"Could you swear that there were no flies' wings in the stomach?" he asked.

"No, sir; because I did not look for them."

"How did you know they were not there?"

"I don't say they were not."

"That's funny. You say you found arsenic, but no fly wings. Yet you are not certain as to their not being there," said Gen. Wolford. The witness in vain tried to explain, the lawyer had twisted the witness up, and so he addressed the jury. "Gentlemen, I demand the acquittal of my client. This chemist says he found arsenic in the stomach of the deceased, but no fly wings. Yet everybody knows that when anyone swallows one or two flies they turn to arsenic in the stomach, yet no fly wings were found, therefore I doubt if there was any arsenic there either." The man was acquitted.—Minneapolis Tribune.

C. O. D.

The cabalistic letters, C. O. D., which appear on so many packages received per express, were first used in a practical way by the Adams Express, not far from thirty-five years ago, in its New York office. So many mistakes had occurred by messengers and drivers in delivering goods which were to be paid for on delivery, with failures to collect on the same, that strict orders were finally issued from headquarters to mark all such articles C. O. D. (collect on delivery), and the said messengers and drivers were to be held responsible in case of failure to obey such orders. The rigid observance of this rule has saved millions of dollars to expressmen. The C. O. D. business is an immense feature in express transactions.

A THIEF in Fort Valley, Ga., hired a little negro to go down the chimney of a certain store and open the back door, promising him 50 cents and half of what he could carry away. The boy went down several feet and then stuck fast, and he could go neither way. He yelled for a long time before he was heard, and seemed very glad to go from the chimney to the lockup.

THE RISING QUESTION.

Shall we eat Lime with our Bread?

It is a fact no longer questioned that all the baking powders, with the single exception of the Royal, contain lime or alum. Prof. Love's report as analyst of the New York State Board of Health, revealing lime impurities, and Government Chemist Mott's researches showing the alarming use of alum, have conclusively established the presence of these substances. Eminent analysts haye found in some of the powders, notably those so prominently advertised, 10.7 per cent of lime alone.

Every body is interested in this wholesale debasement of food. The public health is no doubt injuriously affected by the large amount of lime that is thus taken into the system, for—although perfectly pure food is produced by the use of Royal Baking Powder, which is free from lime and absolutely pure—many of these adulterated baking powders are still imposed upon consumers by the false advertisements with which they are placed before the public.

No Lime in Royal Baking Powder.

Chemical tests have likewise proved the Royal Baking Powder to be free from lime and absolutely pure. This results from the exclusive use of cream of tartar specially refined and prepared by patent processes by which the tartrate of lime is totally eliminated. The production of chemically pure cream of tartar involved many experiments and great expense, which add largely, of course, to the cost of producing the Royal Baking Powder. But its manufacturers are amply rewarded in thus being able to give consumers a baking powder absolutely pure in all respects—the only absolutely pure baking powder made. In emphasis of this fact, the report of Prof. McMurtrie, late chief chemist for the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington, is given:

"I have examined the cream of tartar manufactured by the New York Tartar Company and used by the Royal Baking Powder Company in the manufacture of their baking powder, and found it perfectly pure and free from lime in any form.

"The chemical tests to which I have submitted the Royal Baking Powder, prove it perfectly healthful, and free from every deleterious substance.

To the Cuticura Remedies I Owe My Health, My Happiness, and My Life.

A day never passes that I do not think and speak kindly of the Cuticura Remedies. Seven years ago, all of a dozen lumps formed on my neck, ranging in size from a cherry stone to an orange. The large ones were frightful to look at, and painful to bear; people turned aside when they saw me, in disgust, and I was ashamed to be on the street or in society. Physicians and their treatment, and all medicines failed to do any good. In a moment of dispair I tried the Cuticura Remedies—Cuticura, the great Skin Cure, and Cuticura soap, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and Cuticura Resolvent, the new Blood Purifier, internally; the small lumps (as I call them) gradually disappeared, and the large ones broke, in about two weeks, discharging large quantities of matter, leaving two slight scars in my neck to-day to tell the story of my suffering. My weight then was 115 sickly pounds: my weight now is 161 solid, healthy pounds, and my height is only five feet five inches. In my travels I praised the Cuticura Remedies, North, South, East and West. To cuticura remedies I owe my Health, my Happiness, and my Life. A prominent New York druggist asked me the other day, "Do you still use the Cuticura Remedies; you look to be in perfect health?" My reply was, "I do, and shall always. I have never known what sickness is since I commenced using the Cuticura remedy." Sometimes I am laughed at by praising them to people not acquainted with their merits, but sooner or later they will come to their senses and believe the same as those that use them, as dozens have whom I have told. May the time come when there shall be a large Cuticura Supply House in every city in the world, for the benefit of humanity, where the Cuticura remedies shall be sold only, so that there will be rarely a need of ever entering a drug store.

Sneezing Catarrh.

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the acrid, watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, causing chocking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headaches,—how familiar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of Sanford's Radical cure for Catarrh will afford instantaneous relief.

But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but a faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the breathing is obstructed by choking, putrid mucous accumulations, the hearing affected, smell and taste gone, throat ulcerated and haching cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvelous curative power of Sanford's Radical Cure manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe.

THE LITTLE ONES.

Short Sketches Containing Information that Will Prove Valuable.

"I DID NOT THINK."

Polly, Dolly and Fred—He Did Not Think—His Lessons—A Brave Boy.

Polly, Dolly and Fred.

"Now jump, you little coward!"
Says Fred to sister Polly,
Who, balanced on the topmost rail,
Must look for help to Dolly.

And Dolly, safe upon the ground,
Is speaking words of cheer;
"Look up!" she says; "don't be afraid,
You will not fall, my dear."

Is saucy Fred, who laughs in scorn,
The boy that people say
Is such a perfect gentleman
From home when he's away?

From home or with some stranger near
How kind he seems to all
And then how thoughtful he appears,
Attentive to each call!

If you could see him bow and smile
To one and then another,
You would be very apt to say,
"I wish he were my brother."

Yet Fred's own sisters do not find
In him much to admire;
Fine manners only used abroad
Are easy to acquire.

But true politeness, that is shown
In homely acts, is best:
And here, too plainly, we may see,
Fred's will not bear the test.

To be a real gentleman
Is worth the highest aim;
Only a gentle, manly boy
Deserves to wear the name.

His Lessons.

"If more fathers would take a course with their sons similar to the one my father took with me," observed one of the leading business men of Boston, "the boys might think it hard at the time, but they'd thank them in after life."

"What sort of a course?" we asked.

"Well, I was a young fellow of 22, just out of college; and I felt myself of considerable importance. I knew my father was well off, and my head was full of foolish notions of having a good time and spending lots of money. Later on I expected father to start me in business, after I'd 'swelled' round a while at the clubs and with fine horseflesh.

"Like a wise man, father saw through my folly, and resolved to prevent my self-destruction, if possible.

"'If the boy's got the right stuff in him, let him prove it,' I heard father say to mother one day. 'I worked hard for my money, and I don't intend to let Ned squander it and ruin himself, besides.'

"That very day father came along and handed me $50, remarking, 'Ned, take that money, spend it as you choose, but understand this much: it's the last dollar of my money you can have till you prove yourself capable of earning money and taking care of it on your own account.'

"I took the money in a sort of dazed manner, and stammered out, 'I—why—I—I want to go into business.'

"'Business!' exclaimed father, contemptuously, 'what do you know about managing the mercantile business? Get a clerkship and learn the alphabet before you talk to me of business.' And father left me then to ponder over his words. And that $50 was the last money my father ever gave me, till at his death I received my part of the property.

"I felt hard and bitter then, felt my father was a stingy old fogy, and mentally resolved to prove to him that I could live without his money. He had roused my pride—just what he intended, I suppose.

"For three days I looked around for a place to make lots of money. But I found no such chances, and, at length, I accepted a clerkship in a large retail store at $400 a year.

"Another bit of father's 'stinginess' at this time was demanding $2 a week for my board through that first year.

"At the end of that first year I had laid aside $200, and the next year my salary being raised a hundred, I had five hundred laid by.

"One hundred cents meant more to me in those days than $100 had, previously.

"At the end of four years' clerking I went to my father with $1,500 of my own, and asked him if he was willing to help me enter business. Even then he would only let me hire the money, $2,000, at 6 per cent. interest.

"To-day I am called a successful business man. And I have my father to thank for it. Those lessons of self-denial, self-respect, and independence which he gave me, put the manhood into me.

"Years afterward, father told me it cost him the hardest struggle of his life to be so hard with his boy. But he felt it was the only course to make a man of me. Many a time we've laughed over that $2 board bill."—Youth's Companion.

A Brave Boy.

"Oh, yes, I have all kinds of tenants," said a kind-faced old gentleman; "but the one I like the best is a child not more than 10 years of age. A few years ago I got a chance to buy a piece of land over on the West Side, and did so. I noticed that there was an old coop of a house on it, but paid no attention to it. After awhile a man came to me and wanted to know if I would rent it to him.

"'What do you want it for?' said I.

"'To live in,' he replied.

"'Well,' I said, 'you can have it. Pay me what you think it is worth to you.'

"The first month he brought me $2, and the second month a little boy, who said he was the man's son, came with $3. After that I saw the man once in a while, but in the course of time the boy paid the rent regularly, sometimes $2 and sometimes $3. One day I asked the boy what had become of his father.

"'He's dead, sir.'

"'Is that so?' said I. 'How long since?'

"'More'n a year,' he answered.

"I took his money, but I made up my mind that I would go over and investigate, and the next day I drove over there. The old shed looked quite decent. I knocked at the door, and a little girl let me in. I asked for her mother.

"'Where is she?' said I.

"'We don't know, sir. She went away after my father died, and we've never seen her since.'

"Just then a little girl about 3 years old came in, and I learned that these three children had been keeping house together for a year and a half, the boy supporting his two little sisters by blacking boots and selling newspapers, and the elder girl managing the house and taking care of the baby.

"The next time the boy came with the rent, I said:

"'My boy, you are a little man! You keep right on as you have begun, and you will never be sorry. Keep your little sisters together, and never leave them. Now look at this.'

"I showed him a ledger in which I had entered up all the money he had paid me for rent, and I told him it was all his with interest. 'You keep right on,' says I, 'and I'll be your banker, and when this amounts to a little more I'll see that you get a house somewhere of your own.' That's the kind of tenant to have."—Chicago Herald.

He Did Not Think.

Down in the fire-room of a big steamer that was lying recently at the wharf in New York, a young man was told to do a certain piece of work in connection with the pumps. There were two pumps close together in the room; one was for feeding the boiler, the other to use in case the ship should take fire. This latter one was capable of throwing a volume of water as large as a man's body.

The young man, who had been employed on the ship for three years and had always proved himself efficient and reliable, was the only person left in charge of the fire and engine-rooms. After the order was given to attend to the work necessary for the engine-pump, he removed the cap from the fire-pump. In a moment he discovered his error, but the force of water was so great that he could not replace the cap on the pump. Without a word he ran to the deck, jumped ashore, and took the cars for his home in another State. The water soon filled the hold of the vessel, and in spite of every effort the steamer sunk. Thousands of dollars of damage was done to the engine and furniture of the cabin and state-rooms, and the vessel was prevented from sailing on the usual date, thus causing another loss to the owners, and great inconvenience to the public.

What do you suppose was the man's answer to the questions as to the cause of the accident? "I did not think."

You see, he had not learned, when a little boy, to give his whole attention to the work in hand. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." And to do with all the power of which a man or woman is capable, it is necessary to learn to give full attention when a child, whether it be work or play; if it is worth doing at all, it is worthy of the whole attention. Never make "I did not think" an excuse for a stupid action.—Christian Union.

ALCOHOL AND HEALTH.

The evil effects of alcohol when used as a beverage are becoming thoroughly appreciated. The moral degradation, the mental impairment, and the destruction of the physical structure of arteries, heart, liver, kidneys, and brain that follow abuse of this substance are known. The further fact that it alone among human agents can be depended upon to keep the heart going that has been weakened by acute disease should add to the arguments against its habitual employment in health. When thus abused in health and in youth, its benefits in disease and in old age are "discounted," and the hands of the physician are practically paralyzed when he has to deal with typhoid fever, pneumonia, etc., in the habitual drunkard. Like opium and other valuable medicine used, when not needed, alcohol becomes useless when it is needed. The foolish, who thus abuse one of the most valuable gifts of science, must pay for their folly. That they have to pay for it with strength, intellect, or life itself destroyed while they ought naturally to be in full vigor, is only natural—nature's method to permit the "survival of the fittest."—St. Louis Democrat.

BENEVOLENCE is an attribute of deity—a moving cause of every blessing we enjoy.

A BURGLARY was committed recently at the Austrian Art and Industrial Museum, in Vienna, and artistic objects valued at 6,000 florins were stolen. The thieves have not yet been found. A list of sixteen stolen articles has been published by the police, and includes some renaissance silver goblets, bronze and silver caskets, jugs, and candlesticks. All these objects were easily portable. The thieves threw away a handsome mediæval bronze clock as being too heavy to carry. A famous copper jug and goblet, with embossed medallion portraits of the heroes of the siege of Vienna, in 1683, are among the things missing.

A HEN owned by John Bartlett, of Old Colony, Mass., has adopted an assured method of paying her board. Nearly every day she comes to the house door making a peculiar noise, and, on being admitted, goes to the lounge and deposits an egg. Having thus put the family in the actual possession of the "spot cash," she again finds the door, and, by a peculiar note, asks to be let out, going about her business apparently feeling that she has made an adequate return for her keeping.

THREE REASONS

Why every one needs, and should take Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring:—

1st: Because the system is now in its greatest need. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength.

2d: Because the blood is sluggish and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies.

3d: Because, from the above facts, Hood's Sarsaparilla will do a greater amount of good now than any other time. Take it now.

ELIZABETH CADY STANTON, when in England, wanted very much to pay her respects to the Queen, but on learning that a court dress involved bare neck and arms, abandoned the idea of exposing herself that way for one hour, and losing her self-respect to enjoy the honor.

That Tired Feeling

The warm weather has a debilitating effect, especially upon those who are within doors most of the time. The peculiar, yet common, complaint known as "that tired feeling," is the result. This feeling can be entirely overcome by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives new life and strength to all the functions of the body.

"I could not sleep; had no appetite. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling; and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, Ohio.

Strengthen the System

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence.

BOHEMIAN OATS.

The First Case Comes up for Trial Before Judge O'Rourke.

The case of Josephus S. Mason vs. Martin Brewer is on trial before Judge Edward O'Rourke and a jury. Mr. Mason used to live out in Wayne township, but now is a resident of the city. Mr. Brewer is a Marion township farmer and purchased a quantity of Bohemian oats, giving notes to the amount of $400. The papers passed through many hands. Sam Miller, of the Journal, once held them, but finally they drifted to Mason, who sued for recovery. Mr. Brewer refuses payment, as the Bohemian oats business was fraudulent. The result is eagerly looked for, as it is a precedent of importance, inasmuch as similar notes to the amount of thousands of dollars are held against Allen county farmers.

After the evidence was all in Mr. Mason withdrew his suit and paid the costs. It is presumed he saw no chance for success, and there is great rejoicing among the Bohemian oats victims. The original oats sharks lose nothing, as they have sold the paper to other parties and vanished.

THIS IS IMPORTANT.

The School Board Decides to Erect Three New Buildings—Who Pays for Them?

Hons. A. P. Edgerton, O. P. Morgan, and J. M. Moritz made a careful inspection of the public school property yesterday and found it in excellent shape. They recognize the necessity of additional facilities and decided to erect three new school buildings. One is to be located in Nebraska, the Fifth ward; one in the Sixth ward, and one in the Seventh ward. It will be some time before the buildings will go up as there is not a cent in the building fund.

To explain—there are three separate school funds. In the tuition fund there is some $90,000. This money can only be used for paying teachers. It is a penitentiary offense to apply a penny of it to any other purpose, as it is a constitutional fund—Allen county's share of the division made by the state, and here there is a surplus by reason of good management. This is the money that some have claimed ought to be expended without showing how.

In the maintainance fund, for furnishing, equipping and supplying the schools there is just enough for running expenses. The trustees have some control over this fund.

In the building fund there is no money because this tax is collected in the city and levied by the council on application of the school board. This tax was stopped some two years ago. Now before a new school house can be erected, a special tax must be levied and collected the same as city tax and is an additional burden. People can look at this matter rightly and know that if they want more school houses they will have to pay for them.

"Many people," said Hon. A. P. Edgerton, "think that the $90,000 or $100,000 surplus on hand can be used for any school purpose, when, in fact, if the school children were freezing or perishing for shelter not a cent of that money could be used other than to pay the salaries of teachers. The law specifically makes that fund sacred and provides a prison for any man who violates it."

Thus it is seen that each school fund has its own channel or purpose, and if considered squarely it brushes aside a good deal of nonsense and ignorance on this much ventilated question.

This Question the Senate Considers,

And Mr. Hoar Wants the President to Restrict Nations that Restrict American Sailors.

The President's Reception and the Appo ntees Rejected by the Senate To-day.

THE FISHERIES.

They Come Up in the Senate—House Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 16.—In the senate Mr. Dawes presented a memorial of the Massachusetts legislature. It recites that the general court of Massachusetts views with deep concern, recent interferences of the government of Canada, with the rights of fishermen of the United States and urges congress to secure immediately relief for that class of citizens.

Mr. Hoar wanted the president empowered to retaliate on nations who restricted American sailors in any port.

The senate has rejected the nominations of John Shields, of Michigan, to be chief justice of the supreme court of Arizona and Abraham Rose to be postmaster at Vinton, Iowa.

The senate confirmed the following nominations:

David L. Hawkins as assistant secretary of the interior.

M. H. Maynard, receivor of public moneys at Marquette, Mich.

S. Hull, registerer of land office, Shasta, Cal.

W. Fareu, register land office at Detroit, Mich.

These postmasters were confirmed:

E. Wadsworth, Laporte. Ind.

J. B. Leony, Hancock, Michigan.

W. M. Green, West Bay City, Mich.

Joseph C. Hendrix, Brooklyn, New York.

W. G. Morrison, Frankfort, Ind.

J. W. Lauer, Evansville, Ind.

W. P. Hale, Peru, Ind.

W. H. Evans, Princeton, Ind.

The doors reopened and the senate passed Logan's invalid appropriation bill and the military academy appropriation bill.

The United States senate, Tuesday, passed the bill forfeiting the unearned lands of the Northern Pacific Railroad company.

HOUSE.

Morrison, from the committee on ways and means, reported back adversely the resolution offered by Grosvenor, declaring in favor of the restoration of wool tariff of 1847, and a resolution offered by Wilkins, expressing the sense of congress as adverse to any change in the present wool tariff. Laid upon the table.

The house then went into a committee of the whole on the legislative appropriation bill.

The first official reception of president and Mrs. Cleveland was held at the White House Tuesday evening, being one of the largest ever held at th executive mansion. The diplomatic corps, congressmen with their wives, officers of the army and navy, and many distinguished persons residing in Washington were present to pay their respects to the president and his bride.

A BIG FIRE.

A Pork Packing House Burned Down.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 16.—The large provision and pork packing house of Sperry & Barnes, at Long Wharf, burned this morning. Loss about $200,000; covered by insurance. Several firemen were injured.

Catherine Zimmerman died last night from lung fever, age 70 years. Her funeral is not stated.

DEATH OF HARRY CLAYTON

A Former Citizen Dies at Chattanooga, Tenn., of Consumption.

Mr. Harry Clayton, a former Fort Wayne citizen, died at Chattanooga, Tenn., last evening at 4 o'clock. Mr. Clayton has been subject to pulmonary troubles, and consumption at last claimed him. He was formerly a member of the firm of Moderwell & Clayton, and for a time followed his profession as a photographer. He was an enterprising honorable young man, but ill health compelled him to relinquish his labors. He has been a resident of Chattanooga for two years and his remains are now en route here for burial. They will arrive on the 1:20 train, via the Richmond road, to-night and the date of the funeral will be settled later. The body will be cared for at the home of his father-in-law, Mr. C. L. Hill, at No. 84 Superior street. Mr. Clayton leaves a wife and one child.

THE NICKEL PLATE.

The Road Involved in the Greatest Suit on Record—The Points at Issue.

There is some talk of the Lackawana company taking the Nickel Plate road out of its financial mess to make an entrance to Chicago. It is reported that in case the Lackawanna and Lake Shore can arrange the terms for the transfer of the controlling interest the Lackawanna will retire the Nickel-Plate 6 per cent. bonds, issuing therefor a 4 per cent. bond guaranteed by the Lackawanna company. The excellent financial standing of the Lackawana, it is asserted, would enable it to float such a bond at about par. The Vanderbilt-Nickel Plate suit, booked for a hearing at New York yesterday, was again postponed. If the Nickel Plate contest goes on to a square issue it will go into legal and railroad history as one of the most important pieces of litigation this country has ever seen. The amount involved is somewhere between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000. But this is the least interesting feature of the contest. The novelty of the attack, and the points of law chiefly attract attention. Two particular points are raised. One is that the Nickel Plate, as a whole, has no legal existence, and the courts are asked to resolve it to its original component parts, as organized in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. Another point is based on section 3313 of the revised statutes of Ohio, which says: "All capital stock, bonds, notes and other securities of a company, purchased of the company by a director thereof, either directly or indirectly for less than the par value shall be null and void." Now; the Vanderbilt attorneys claim that by depositions already taken, they can show that the original directors of the Nickel Plate company received at least $45,000,000 of the stock of the company for a cash consideration of not over $9,000,000.

LOW RATES.

The Passenger Agents Give the Tri-State Fair Cheap Rates.

There was an important meeting of prominent railroad men at the Young Mens Christian association's reading rooms yesterday. The corporations were represented as follows:

Pittsburg, Fort Wayne & Chicago—F. Vanduzon and C. L. Kimball.

Lake Shore—W. S. Johnson, W. H. Canniff and E. S. Philley.

Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific—Mr. Cram, and J. M. McConnell.

New York, Chicago & St. Louis—B. F. Horner and F. H. Barnard.

Fort Wayne, Cincinnati & Louisville—R. F. Kinnaird.

Grand Rapids & Indiana—C. L. Lockwood.

The passenger men discussed the tri-state fair project and agreed to give the people cheap rates on every railroad entering Fort Wayne during the progress of the great exhibition here. The visitors made friends here and are kindly disposed toward Fort Wayne. They will announce the schedule of rates in a few days.

Professor E. E. Smith, who has filled the chair of English literature in Purdue University for the past year, was decapitated by the board of trustees, all of whom were present except Civil Service Commissioner Edgerton It is said President Smart and Professor Smith had not dwelt together in unity, and this is probably the cause of Smith's retirement. The chair has not been filled.

THE FAIR.

The Voting Contests and Personal Notes.

The St. Mary's fair continues the leading attraction in the city. Everybody goes to Library hall.

Prof. Reineke's orchestra will furnish music to-night.

A contest for a standard cyclomoter to the most popular wheelman will open on the board to-night and will close Friday night. Bring in your names and let the contest be spirited.

The management of the fair acknowledge most thankfully valuable gifts from the Misses May Graffe and Annie Mommer.

The contest between the most popular wholesale merchants for a costly sideboard opens to-night and closes Saturday night. This will undoubtedly be a leading feature of the fair and all should avail themselves of the fun by being present.

The Library hall is well ventilated, besides the cold lemonade from the Rebecca well and the ice cream will add to the comfort of all visitors.

The contest for the beautiful cherry secretary, to be given to the most popular young lady, closes to-night. The contestants are: Miss Ida Bulger, Miss Mollie Nierman, Miss Katie Kalbacher and Miss Mary Baltes; all have a large circle of friends and acquaintances and the contest will be exciting. Don't fail to be there and see the fun. Eleven o'clock closes the contest.

The contest between the butchers for a live steer closes to-morrow night and the race promises to be very exciting. The following knights of the cleaver have entered the race: Wm. Wilkins, Chas. Weller, Albert Gessler, Louis Yobst, and Chas. Haiber. All being very prominent young men, their followers will present a bold front for victory.

DAUGHTERS OF REBEKAH.

Financial secretary—Mrs. H. E. Mattinger.

Hon. A. P. Edgerton returns to Washington, D. C., this evening.

FATIGUE IN INFANTS.

The sensation of fatigue constitutes, from the practical point of view, one of the most important aspects of the hygiene of infancy. Whatever may be the source of the fatigue, sleepiness is the result; or, if the fatigue is great, crying followed by sleep. A chief characteristic of infancy is the rapidity with which the nervous system becomes exhausted, the central portions as well as the peripheral—not only the eye and the ear of the young child suffer fatigue, but also the cerebral centers; and the more tender the age, the more striking are the manifestations. This exhaustion of the nervous centers is the source of an exceedingly disagreeable sensation, and every effort should be made to prevent it as far as possible, and to repair it with quiet and refreshing sleep when it cannot be prevented. Being awake for a long time is sufficient to produce fatigue without any other cause, and it is one of the most frequent reasons for the baby's crying. Any painful impression is quickly followed by fatigue.

Agreeable sensations as well as disagreeable ones are fatigning when they are long continued, and so is muscular exertion. The act of sucking sometimes occasions cries and tears when the breast does not contain enough milk; and the continual working of the respiratory muscles, to which the baby at first is quite unaccustomed, is doubtless a considerable source of fatigue. The constant transition which the child makes from one object to another may be explained by the fact that any sensation fatigues it very rapidly, and that its attention wanders without its will to a fresh object. All these sources of fatigue are sufficient to account for the almost continual sleep of the infant during the first period of its life.—Babyhood.

East Tawas, Mich. Tossed About.

A Terrible Cyclone Strikes it, Wrecking Buildings and all Obstacles in its Track.

Emma Molloy Free From Indictment Again—The Iron Output this Year.

A BAD STORM.

East Tawas, Mich., in a Dreadful Cyclone.

EAST TAWAS, Mich., June 16.—A terrific wind storm accompanied by a heavy rain, passed over here last night. It broke the United States signal staff and leveled Richard Bros., large block of stores, in course of erection. Trees were blown down and a large quantity of lumber was blown into the bay. The residence of James Shaw was moved bodily off the sills, and carried nearly five feet.

MRS. EMMA MOLLOY.

The Indictment Against Her Quashed for Technical Error.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 16.—In the circuit court a motion was made by Mrs. Molloy's attorneys to quash the indictments recently found against her on the ground of a technical error in the same. The motion was granted by Judge Geiger. Mrs. Molloy will be held under bond to appear at the October session of the grand jury.

The application for a continuance in Cora Lee's case has not been decided.

IRON OUT PUT.

The Business Much Better Than Last Year.

PITTSBURG, June 16.—The iron out this year, compared with that of the corresponding period of 1885, shows a good condition. Two hundred and three tons more of iron are being made than during last June. In the steel mills 700 tons of metal are used daily. In iron mills the puddlers are on double turn. In the remainder, half of the puddling furnaces are on double and single turn.

A MILLIONAIRE

Must Serve His Prison Sentence Out.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 16.—The pardon board destroyed Milton Weston's hopes of release from the penitentiary last night, by refusing his application for pardon. The decision is final and the Chicago millionaire must now serve out his sentence.

The Bridegroom Lives.

NEW YORK, June 16.—Thompson, the young Kansas City bridegroom who killed his wife at the Sturtevant house yesterday and shot himself, was resting quietly under the influence of morphine after an undisturbed night.

A ONE-SIDED CAMPAIGN.

"Yes," said a defeated candidate for the Dakota legislature just after the election, "I would have been elected if my opponent had done the fair thing. He beat me by stooping to measures that I would not employ."

"How was that?" asked a friend.

"Why, he didn't say that I had to leave the States on account of some irregularity in connection with an insurance matter. He failed to make the usual charge that I had always borne a bad reputation and was once tarred and feathered. He didn't even claim that I was 'dishonest and an unsafe man to trust with the weighty affairs connected with our government.' I made all these charges and he was of course elected. It was a mean, cowardly advantage to take of me and one unknown in territorial politics. I think when the people fully understand the trick they will feel as I do about it."—Estelline Bell.

At Marion, Ind., Monday, Samuel Maxwell shot at his wife, but missed her and painfully wounded his stepmother.

It is designed to erect at the capitol of the state, a monument in honor of the union soldiers and sailors of Indiana, who fell in the late war, to cost not less than $150,000, two-thirds of which sum is expected to be appropriated by the general assembly, and the remainder raised by private subscriptions and appropriations by the counties. The Great Objector Gets a Handsome Testimonial From His People at Greensburg.

The Cincinnati Sheriff Fined for Contempt for Paroling a Prisoner.

JUDGE HOLMAN.

He is Renominated for Congress this Afternoon.

Special to THE SENTINEL.

GREENSBURG, Ind., June 16.—For congress, Judge Holman received 121 votes to Cravens fifty. CHAS. A. MUNSON.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINEL.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 16.—W. S. Holman was renominated for congress today.

[Mr. Holman has served in congress now for more than twenty years, and his people will still love him, notwithstanding the opposition of disappointed office-seekers. The paragraph below was written to appear without knowledge of the vote of the convention.—ED. SENTINEL.]

It is now stated that in Hon. W. S. Holman's congressional district, where it requires sixty-eight votes to nominate, Mr. Holman's democratic people have already instructed almost a round one hundred delegates to vote for him. At their recent county convention the democrats of Dearborn county formally presented the name of Mr. Holman for U. S. senator, and instructed the legislative representation from that county to vote for the "watch dog of the treasury" for that high and honorable position. Mr. Holman is an uncle of Hons. A. H. and Montgomery Hamilton, of this city. Mr. Holman is now at his home in this state.

RATHER SHARP.

The Cincinnati Sheriff Fined for Contempt.

CINCINNATI, June 16.—Judge Maxwell to-day found Sheriff Beersford guilty of contempt for surrendering Fred Herriman, under sentence to the penitentiary, to persons who took him out of jail. W. A. Goodman, who had Herriman in his care, stated to the court that no contempt was intended by the sheriff, and that he was the cause of the whole matter. Nevertheless the judge fined the sheriff $50 and costs. Herriman is now in jail.

MUST PAY US.

Adams County Liable For the Costs in the Richards Case.

It is recalled that Adams county refused to pay $8,000 costs in the Richards' case. Hon. R. C. Bell, the gifted county attorney, promptly appealed from the decision of the Adams county court and the supreme court yesterday reversed the case, sustaining and doing honor to Mr. Bell and holding Adams county liable as follows:

The state ex rel. board of commissioners of Allen county vs. Lewis C. Miller, auditor. Adams C. C. Reversed. Niblack, J.—So much of section 414 as was applicable to criminal case was superseded by sections 1778 and 1779, and an allowance regularly made to attorneys, either for prosecuting or defending in a criminal case, by a circuit or criminal court on a change of venue, come within the provisions of the latter sections and the county from which the change was taken is liable.

LEO HARTMAN says in the New York Star: "Nihilism in Russia, though comparatively quiet now in manifesting itself, is by no means dormant nor idle. No one need be astonished at any time at an outbreak more tremendous, far-reaching and dangerous to Russian absolutism than any in the past. The blood of our martyrs will yet be avenged, perhaps much sooner than the world suspects; but of my reasons for this I have now no right to enter into any explanation."

CIVIL-SERVICE REFORM.

Civil-service reform comes hard, because the evils against which it is aimed have been long intrenched in the body politic and can only be removed by heroic treatment. Because an abuse is of long standing, however, is no reason why it should be tolerated, and the assertion of such a principle is without rhyme or reason. Diseases which afflict the human body are not looked upon as blessings because long endured, nor should those which afflict the state be considered so. Everything which is inconsistent with the most perfect working of the body and government must be gotten rid of. Such, at least, is the belief of Mr. W. D. Murphy, of No. 310 Yandes street, Indianapolis, who has recently been cured of rheumatism of twenty-five years' standing by that great remedy, Athlophoros. Age gave the disease no charm in his eyes, and he swept it away at the first opportunity. He himself tells all about the matter in this way:

"My rheumatism dates way back about twenty-five years. I first contracted it in the war, in which I served four years and six months. After returning home from service the disease seemed to assume a periodical form. I would have at least two severe attacks every year, but even between these attacks I would suffer all the time. These attacks prevented me from getting about, and many times I could not walk or get out of bed. They would catch me in the legs so that after standing awhile I would feel suddenly weak and in danger of falling."

"Was it during one of these attacks that you used Athlophoros?" Mr. Murphy was asked.

"Yes; that's the time and that's when it did its work for me. I saw it advertised and sent to B. Brehm, the druggist on Columbia avenue, for a bottle. It was in the afternoon I took the first dose and then at night I took another. I slept soundly that night. The next morning when I awoke I had no pain. I took a few doses more, only using about two-thirds of a bottle altogether and my rheumatism was all gone. That is over a year ago and I have only felt a little twinge of the pain since, but nothing to speak of."

"Do you know of any others who have used Athlophoros?"

"Yes. I have recommended it to many different persons. My confidence was so great in the medicine that in several instances I have bought bottles of it and given them to people, saying at the time that if it did not do its work they need not pay for it; but there is not a single case in which I did not have my money within a week. There is Mrs. Wright, an aged lady of seventy, living a few miles from here, who, after suffering from rheumatic pains for fifteen years, was entirely rid of all pain by three or four bottles of Athlophoros. I recommended another lady, who was supposed to be suffering from dyspepsia, but who in reality had neuralgia of the stomach, to try Athlophoros, and it soon cured her. My neighbor, who had a severe attack of neuralgia, his face being swollen out of all shape, was cured by a few doses. My confidence in Athlophoros is very strong, and I believe that if any one suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia will take it right it will cure ninety-nine cases out of a hundred. It is worth $100 a bottle to every sufferer from rheumatism."

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us, as directed.

MOTIONS.

On motion of Councilman Bucine the committee on markets were instructed to have the trees in "Mohr's Park" properly protected from injury.

On motion of Councilman Michael the committee on sewers were instructed to insert in each ordinance for the construction of sewers a clause providing for an inspector of sewers.

On motion the common council then adjourned.

THE CANDLE-FISH.

People do not get candles from water, as a rule, I believe, but nevertheless there was a time when men were indebted to the ocean for much of the light that made their homes pleasant at night. The best candles and oil of your forefathers' time came from whales. There is, however, a very remarkable light-giver, which is nothing more nor less than a small fish. This fish is so very oily that all you have to do, after it has departed this life, is to fasten it by its tail between two pieces of wood, touch a match to its head, and a pale flame will arise from the fish's mouth that lasts until, like a candle, the fish is slowly consumed.

The useful fish, moreover, is a very important one to people living on the northwestern coast of North America. At certain seasons the candle-fishes swarm the bays and rivers in vast numbers, and every native man, woman, and child is engaged in capturing them. And how do you suppose they catch them? They actually comb them in. The boats drive them in shore, where each native, armed with a gigantic weapon with teeth eight inches long, sweeps or combs them up by the hundred.

When the boats are loaded full, the fish are carried ashore, where women and children take charge of them. After being dried and smoked, they are ready for candles. They are also used as food, and in that case the oil is tried out and put away for winter use.—"Jack-in-the-Pulpit," in St. Nicholas.

A KENTUCKY CHARACTER.

Anecdotes of an Old Brigadier Congressman.

One of the characters in the house is Gen. Wolford, of Kentucky. When he is at home he wears an old flannel shirt and pants strapped about his waist. When he came here he found he had to change his costume and put on a "biled" shirt and black clothes. At first he was averse to this, but some friends bought him a black suit. He has worn it ever since, and this is his second term. But he would not dare go home dressed as he is now, for his constituents would think he had become effeminate. Several good stories are told of his first campaign, when he took the stump against Gen. Fry. His speech on the Fitz John Porter case revives them. When he was first nominated by the Democrats for Congress Gen. Fry asked him to unite with him and make several speeches together. Wolford accepted the invitation. The first meeting was enough for Gen. Fry. Gen. Wolford commanded the 1st Kentucky cavalry in the Union army, and the regiment was known as the "critter backs." He had several of his men on the platform with him when he made his speech. He opened most brilliantly, but suddenly startled Gen. Fry by asking the assemblage if they knew what the Union had done with Gen. Lee after he surrendered at Appomattox. "Why, gentlemen,—will you believe it?—when he was out walking under an apple-tree near the very house where he surrendered, they grabbed him. Yes, the men who had granted him a parole seized him, and, sir, they not only did that, but they hung Gen. Lee to the very apple-tree under which he was walking! Hung him dead!" Gen. Fry at first was so surprised he could not speak, but jumping to his feet, he said. "Gen. Wolford, you know that is not so. Gen. Lee was never hung."

"But, sir," exclaimed Gen. Wolford, "I was there, and I know it is so. Wasn't it John?" and he turned to one of his "critterbacks." The man nodded his head, as did the others who sat near him. Gen. Fry sank back in his chair overcome.

"This is not all," said Gen. Wolford, turning to the crowd in front of him. "The Union men locked Jeff Davis up in Fortress Monroe, and one beautiful moonlight night when the tide was low, they took him out and tied him to a stake on the beach. The sea came in gradually, the waves swept over him, and he was drowned, and they stood and heard his cries."

This was too much for Gen. Fry. Again he protested and said that Jeff Davis was alive still, but the "critterbacks" indorsed Gen. Wolford, and seeing that his opponent intended to keep the thing up, Gen. Fry withdrew, and Gen. Wolford was elected by a rousing majority.

Another story is told of Gen. Wolford when he was trying a case in his native town in Adair county, Kentucky. His client had been charged with poisoning someone. The chemist for the State had testified to finding arsenic in the stomach of the deceased, and then Gen. Wolford took the witness in hand.

"Do you find any flies' wings in the stomach?" asked the General. "No, sir; for I did not look for any. I found arsenic," answered the chemist.

"Could you swear that there were no flies' wings in the stomach?" he asked.

"No, sir; because I did not look for them."

"How did you know they were not there?"

"I don't say they were not."

"That's funny. You say you found arsenic, but no fly wings. Yet you are not certain as to their not being there," said Gen. Wolford. The witness, in vain tried to explain, the lawyer had twisted the witness up, and so he addressed the jury. "Gentlemen, I demand the acquittal of my client. This chemist says he found arsenic in the stomach of the deceased, but no fly wings. Yet everybody knows that when anyone swallows one or two flies they turn to arsenic in the stomach, yet no fly wings were found, therefore I donbt if there was any arsenic there either." The man was acquitted.—Minneapolis Tribune.

C. O. D.

The cabalistic letters, C. O. D., which appear on so many packages received per express, were first used in a practical way by the Adams Express, not far from thirty-five years ago, in its New York office. So many mistakes had occurred by messengers and drivers in delivering goods which were to be paid for on delivery, with failures to collect on the same, that strict orders were finally issued from headquarters to mark all such articles C. O. D. (collect on delivery), and the said messengers and drivers were to be held responsible in case of failure to obey such orders. The rigid observance of this rule has saved millions of dollars to expressmen. The C. O. D. business is an immense feature in express transactions.

A THIEF in Fort Valley, Ga., hired a little negro to go down the chimney of a certain store and open the back door, promising him 50 cents and half of what he could carry away. The boy went down several feet and then stuck fast, and he could go neither way. He yelled for a long time before he was heard, and seemed very glad to go from the chimney to the lockup.

THE RISING QUESTION.

Shall we eat Lime with our Bread?

It is a fact no longer questioned that all the baking powders, with the single exception of the Royal, contain lime or alum. Prof. Love's report as analyst of the New York State Board of Health, revealing lime impurities, and Government Chemist Mott's researches showing the alarming use of alum, have conclusively established the presence of these substances. Eminent analysts have found in some of the powders, notably those so prominently advertised, 10.7 per cent of lime alone.

Every body is interested in this wholesale debasement of food. The public health is no doubt injuriously affected by the large amount of lime that is thus taken into the system, for—although perfectly pure food is produced by the use of Royal Baking Powder, which is free from lime and absolutely pure—many of these adulterated baking powders are still imposed upon consumers by the false advertisements with which they are placed before the public.

No Lime in Royal Baking Powder.

Chemical tests have likewise proved the Royal Baking Powder to be free from lime and absolutely pure. This results from the exclusive use of cream of tartar specially refined and prepared by patent processes by which the tartrate of lime is totally eliminated. The production of chemically pure cream of tartar involved many experiments and great expense, which add largely, of course, to the cost of producing the Royal Baking Powder. But its manufacturers are amply rewarded in thus being able to give consumers a baking powder absolutely pure in all respects—the only absolutely pure baking powder made. In emphasis of this fact, the report of Prof. McMurtrie, late chief chemist for the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington, is given:

"I have examined the cream of tartar manufactured by the New York Tartar Company and used by the Royal Baking Powder Company in the manufacture of their baking powder, and found it perfectly pure and free from lime in any form.

"The chemical tests to which I have submitted the Royal Baking Powder, prove it perfectly healthful, and free from every deleterious substance.

To the Cuticura Remedies I Owe My Health, My Happiness, and My Life.

A day never passes that I do not think and speak kindly of the Cuticura Remedies. Seven years ago, all of a dozen lumps formed on my neck, ranging in size from a cherry stone to an orange. The large ones were frightful to look at, and painful to bear; people turned aside when they saw me, in disgust, and I was ashamed to be on the street or in society. Physicians and their treatment, and all medicines failed to do any good. In a moment of dispair I tried the Cuticura Remedies—Cuticura, the great Skin Cure, and Cuticura soap, an exquisite Skin Beautifier, externally, and Cuticura Resolvent, the new Blood Purifier, internally; the small lumps (as I call them) gradually disappeared, and the large ones broke, in about two weeks, discharging large quantities of matter, leaving two slight scars in my neck to-day to tell the story of my suffering. My weight then was 115 sickly pounds; my weight now is 161 solid, healthy pounds, and my height is only five feet five inches. In my travels I praised the Cuticura Remedies, North, South, East and West. To cuticura remedies I owe my Health, my Happiness, and my Life. A prominent New York druggist asked me the other day, "Do you still use the Cuticura Remedies; you look to be in perfect health?" My reply was, "I do, and shall always. I have never known what sickness is since I commenced using the Cuticura remedy." Sometimes I am laughed at by praising them to people not acquainted with their merits, but sooner or later they will come to their senses and believe the same as those that use them, as dozens have whom I have told. May the time come when there shall be a large Cuticura Supply House in every city in the world, for the benefit of humanity, where the Cuticura remedies shall be sold only, so that there will be rarely a need of ever entering a drug store.

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the acrid, watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, causing chocking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headaches,—how familiar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of Sanford's Radical cure for Catarrh will afford instantaneous relief.

But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but a faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the breathing is obstructed by choking, putrid mucous accumulations, the hearing affected, smell and taste gone, throat ulcerated and hacking cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvelous curative power of Sanford's Radical Cure manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe.

THE LITTLE ONES.

Short Sketches Containing Information that Will Prove Valuable.

"I DID NOT THINK."

Polly, Dolly and Fred—He Did Not Think—His Lessons—A Brave Boy.

Polly, Dolly and Fred.

"Now jump, you little coward!"
Says Fred to sister Polly,
Who, balanced on the topmost rail,
Must look for help to Dolly.

And Dolly, safe upon the ground,
Is speaking words of cheer;
"Look up!" she says; "don't be afraid,
You will not fall, my dear."

Is saucy Fred, who laughs in scorn,
The boy that people say
Is such a perfect gentleman
From home when he's away?

From home or, with some stranger near,
How kind he seems to all
And then how thoughtful he appears,
Attentive to each call!

If you could see him bow and smile
To one and then another,
You would be very apt to say,
"I wish he were my brother."

Yet Fred's own sisters do not find
In him much to admire;
Fine manners only used abroad
Are easy to acquire.

But true politeness, that is shown
In homely acts, is best:
And here, too plainly, we may see,
Fred's will not bear the test.

To be a real gentleman
Is worth the highest aim;
Only a gentle, manly boy
Deserves to wear the name.

His Lessons.

"If more fathers would take a course with their sons similar to the one my father took with me," observed one of the leading business men of Boston, "the boys might think it hard at the time, but they'd thank them in after life."

"What sort of a course?" we asked.

"Well, I was a young fellow of 22, just out of college; and I felt myself of considerable importance. I know my father was well off, and my head was full of foolish notions of having a good time and spending lots of money. Later on I expected father to start me in business, after I'd 'swelled' round a while at the clubs and with fine horse-flesh.

"Like a wise man, father saw through my folly, and resolved to prevent my self-destruction, if possible.

"'If the boy's got the right stuff in him, let him prove it,' I heard father say to mother one day. 'I worked hard for my money, and I don't intend to let Ned squander it and ruin himself, besides.'

"That very day father came along and handed me $50, remarking, 'Ned, take that money, spend it as you choose, but understand this much: it's the last dollar of my money you can have till you prove yourself capable of earning money and taking care of it on your own account.'

"I took the money in a sort of dazed manner, and stammered out, 'I—why—I—I want to go into business.'

"'Business!' exclaimed father, contemptuously, 'what do you know about managing the mercantile business? Get a clerkship and learn the alphabet before you talk to me of business.' And father left me then to ponder over his words. And that $50 was the last money my father ever gave me, till at his death I received my part of the property.

"I felt hard and bitter then, felt my father was a stingy old fogy, and mentally resolved to prove to him that I could live without his money. He had roused my pride—just what he intended, I suppose.

"For three days I looked around for a place to make lots of money. But I found no such chances, and, at length, I accepted a clerkship in a large retail store at $400 a year.

"Another bit of father's 'stinginess' at this time was demanding $2 a week for my board through that first year.

"At the end of that first year I had laid aside $200, and the next year my salary being raised a hundred, I had five hundred laid by.

"One hundred cents meant more to me in those days than $100 had, previously.

"At the end of four years' clerking I went to my father with $1,500 of my own, and asked him if he was willing to help me enter business. Even then he would only let me hire the money, $2,000, at 6 per cent. interest.

"To-day I am called a successful business man. And I have my father to thank for it. Those lessons of self-denial, self-respect, and independence which he gave me, put the manhood into me.

"Years afterward, father told me it cost him the hardest struggle of his life to be so hard with his boy. But he felt it was the only course to make a man of me. Many a time we've laughed over that $2 board bill."—Youth's Companion.

A Brave Boy.

"Oh, yes, I have all kinds of tenants," said a kind-faced old gentleman; "but the one I like the best is a child not more than 10 years of age. A few years ago I got a chance to buy a piece of land over on the West Side, and did so. I noticed that there was an old coop of a house on it, but paid no attention to it. After awhile a man came to me and wanted to know if I would rent it to him.

"'What do you want it for?' said I.

"'To live in,' he replied.

"'Well,' I said, 'you can have it. Pay me what you think it is worth to you.'

"The first month he brought me $2, and the second month a little boy, who said he was the man's son, came with $3. After that I saw the man once in a while, but in the course of time the boy paid the rent regularly, sometimes $2 and sometimes $3. One day I asked the boy what had become of his father.

"'He's dead, sir.'

"'Is that so?' said I. 'How long since?'

"'More'n a year,' he answered.

"I took his money, but I made up my mind that I would go over and investigate, and the next day I drove over there. The old shed looked quite decent. I knocked at the door, and a little girl let me in. I asked for her mother.

"'Where is she?' said I.

"'We don't know, sir. She went away after my father died, and we've never seen her since.'

"Just then a little girl about 3 years old came in, and I learned that these three children had been keeping house together for a year and a half, the boy supporting his two little sisters by blacking boots and selling newspapers, and the elder girl managing the house and taking care of the baby.

"The next time the boy came with the rent, I said:

"'My boy, you are a little man! You keep right on as you have begun, and you will never be sorry. Keep your little sisters together, and never leave them. Now look at this.'

"I showed him a ledger in which I had entered up all the money he had paid me for rent, and I told him it was all his with interest. 'You keep right on,' says I, 'and I'll be your banker, and when this amounts to a little more I'll see that you get a house somewhere of your own.' That's the kind of tenant to have."—Chicago Herald.

He Did Not Think.

Down in the fire-room of a big steamer that was lying recently at the wharf in New York, a young man was told to do a certain piece of work in connection with the pumps. There were two pumps close together in the room; one was for feeding the boiler, the other to use in case the ship should take fire. This latter one was capable of throwing a volume of water as large as a man's body.

The young man, who had been employed on the ship for three years and had always proved himself efficient and reliable, was the only person left in charge of the fire and engine-rooms. After the order was given to attend to the work necessary for the engine pump, he removed the cap from the fire-pump. In a moment he discovered his error, but the force of water was so great that he could not replace the cap on the pump. Without a word he ran to the deck, jumped ashore, and took the cars for his home in another State. The water soon filled the hold of the vessel, and in spite of every effort the steamer sunk. Thousands of dollars of damage was done to the engine and furniture of the cabin and state-rooms, and the vessel was prevented from sailing on the usual date, thus causing another loss to the owners, and great inconvenience to the public.

What do you suppose was the man's answer to the questions as to the cause of the accident? "I did not think."

You see, he had not learned, when a little boy, to give his whole attention to the work in hand. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might." And to do with all the power of which a man or woman is capable, it is necessary to learn to give full attention when a child, whether it be work or play; if it is worth doing at all, it is worthy of the whole attention. Never make "I did not think" an excuse for a stupid action.—Christian Union.

ALCOHOL AND HEALTH.

The evil effects of alcohol when used as a beverage are becoming thoroughly appreciated. The moral degradation, the mental impairment, and the destruction of the physical structure of arteries, heart, liver, kidneys, and brain that follow abuse of this substance are known. The further fact that it alone among human agents can be depended upon to keep the heart going that has been weakened by acute disease should add to the arguments against its habitual employment in health. When thus abused in health and in youth, its benefits in disease and in old age are "discounted," and the hands of the physician are practically paralyzed when he has to deal with typhoid fever, pneumonia, etc., in the habitual drunkard. Like opium and other valuable medicine used, when not needed, alcohol becomes useless when it is needed. The foolish, who thus abuse one of the most valuable gifts of science, must pay for their folly. That they have to pay for it with strength, intellect, or life itself destroyed while they ought naturally to be in full vigor, is only natural—nature's method to permit the "survival of the fittest."—St. Louis Democrat.

BENEVOLENCE is an attribute of deity—a moving cause of every blessing we enjoy.

A BURGLARY was committed recently at the Austrian Art and Industrial Museum, in Vienna, and artistic objects valued at 6,000 florins were stolen. The thieves have not yet been found. A list of sixteen stolen articles has been published by the police, and includes some renaissance silver goblets, bronze and silver caskets, jugs, and candlesticks. All these objects were easily portable. The thieves threw away a handsome medieval bronze clock as being too heavy to carry. A famous copper jug and goblet, with embossed medallion portraits of the heroes of the siege of Vienna, in 1683, are among the things missing.

A HEN owned by John Bartlett, of Old Colony, Mass., has adopted an assured method of paying her board. Nearly every day she comes to the house door making a peculiar noise, and, on being admitted, goes to the lounge and deposits an egg. Having thus put the family in the actual possession of the "spot cash," she again finds the door, and, by a peculiar note, asks to be let out, going about her business apparently feeling that she has made an adequate return for her keeping.

THREE REASONS

Why every one needs, and should take Hood's Sarsaparilla in the spring:—

1st: Because the system is now in its greatest need. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength.

2d: Because the blood is sluggish and impure. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies.

3d: Because, from the above facts, Hood's Sarsaparilla will do a greater amount of good now than any other time. Take it now.

That Tired Feeling

The warm weather has a debilitating effect, especially upon those who are within doors most of the time. The peculiar, yet common, complaint known as "that tired feeling," is the result. This feeling can be entirely overcome by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which gives new life and strength to all the functions of the body.

"I could not sleep; had no appetite. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon began to sleep soundly; could get up without that tired and languid feeling; and my appetite improved." R. A. SANFORD, Kent, Ohio.

Strengthen the System

Hood's Sarsaparilla is characterized by three peculiarities: 1st, the combination of remedial agents; 2d, the proportion; 3d, the process of securing the active medicinal qualities. The result is a medicine of unusual strength, effecting cures hitherto unknown. Send for book containing additional evidence.

BOHEMIAN OATS.

The First Case Comes up for Trial Before Judge O'Rourke.

The case of Josephus S. Mason vs. Martin Brewer is on trial before Judge Edward O'Rourke and a jury. Mr. Mason used to live out in Wayne township, but now is a resident of the city. Mr. Brewer is a Marion township farmer and purchased a quantity of Bohemian oats, giving notes to the amount of $400. The papers passed through many hands. Sam Miller, of the Journal, once held them, but finally they drifted to Mason, who sued for recovery. Mr. Brewer refuses payment, as the Bohemian oats business was fraudulent. The result is eagerly looked for, as it is a precedent of importance, inasmuch as similar notes to the amount of thousands of dollars are held against Allen county farmers.

After the evidence was all in Mr. Mason withdrew his suit and paid the costs. It is presumed he saw no chance for success, and there is great rejoicing among the Bohemian oats victims. The original oats sharks lose nothing, as they have sold the paper to other parties and vanished.

The School Board Decides to Erect Three New Buildings----Who Pays for Them?

Hons. A. P. Edgerton, O. P. Morgan, and J. M. Moritz made a careful inspection of the public school property yesterday and found it in excellent shape. They recognize the necessity of additional facilities and decided to erect three new school buildings. One is to be located in Nebraska, the Fifth ward; one in the Sixth ward, and one in the Seventh ward. It will be some time before the buildings will go up as there is not a cent in the building fund.

To explain—there are three separate school funds. In the tuition fund there is some $90,000. This money can only be used for paying teachers. It is a penitentiary offense to apply a penny of it to any other purpose, as it is a constitutional fund—Allen county's share of the division made by the state, and here there is a surplus by reason of good management. This is the money that some have claimed ought to be expended without showing how.

In the maintainance fund, for furnishing, equipping and supplying the schools there is just enough for running expenses. The trustees have some control over this fund.

In the building fund there is no money because this tax is collected in the city and levied by the council on application of the school board. This tax was stopped some two years ago. Now before a new school house can be erected, a special tax must be levied and collected the same as city tax and is an additional burden. People can look at this matter rightly and know that if they want more school houses they will have to pay for them.

"Many people," said Hon. A. P. Edgerton, "think that the $90,000 or $100,000 surplus on hand can be used for any school purpose, when, in fact, if the school children were freezing or perishing for shelter not a cent of that money could be used other than to pay the salaries of teachers. The law specifically makes that fund sacred and provides a prison for any man who violates it."

Thus it is seen that each school fund has its own channel or purpose, and if considered squarely it brushes aside a good deal of nonsense and ignorance on this much ventilated question.
